1.13 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to gender equality indicator 1, please do so below.

Amatil's group wide diversity and inclusion principles, Board and approved measurable objectives, and progress in the area of diversity is reviewed annually by Amatil People Committee. The organisation's goals are aligned to the requirements of the business and enable Amatil to respond to the changing needs and expectations of our people, our customers, our consumers, our partners, the community and our shareholders. Our principles and objectives encompass sourcing, inclusion and retention and are underpinned by the organisations leadership capability Framework and Values.

In 2017 we set fresh objectives for Diversity and Inclusion through to 2020. These objectives consider our business environment and support maintaining an appropriate focus on equality of opportunity as well as gender balance across all our geographies and businesses. We are committed to gender equality and have a range of policies, strategies, programs and engagement initiatives to help Amatil achieve this goal.

We have increased the representation of our senior executive roles held by females from 30% in 2017 to 34% in 2018. We also committed to at least 30% of management positions to be held by women. We have introduced a new and consistent definition of 'management positions' which applies the WGEA descriptors. This has provided a baseline for 2018 of 21% of women in management positions across our business.

To achieve this target, we identified and validated 43% of women as future and emerging leaders across the Group achieving a strong pipeline of female leaders and we continue to improve our gender-specific development programs to achieve our 2020 goals for representation of women in management.

4.01 You may provide details below on the type of gender remuneration gap analysis that has been undertaken (for example like-for-like and/or organisation-wide).

In 2018 we again conducted a full review of gender pay equity, covering all Businesses and countries across Coca-Cola Amatil. The 2018 overall findings are consistent with 2017. We are paying market rates for roles independent of gender, and incentive outcomes are not influenced by gender. Consistent with prior year insights we continue to have uneven gender representation by seniority and by function, which results in differences in pay between males and females at an aggregate level. To address this, we need to continue our efforts to improve gender representation across Coca-Cola Amatil particularly in leadership roles.

In the 2019 review we will draw specific attention to the two related topics of pay equity and gender pay, and will support our Leaders in the business to perform detailed analysis and investigation within their business units and develop their action plans for the coming year.

In 2019 we will enhance how we ensure pay equity in like-for-like roles by implementing a stronger pay framework founded in a simple but robust job grading structure, rather than subjective job matching. We are currently in the process of finalising the pay grades using Korn Ferry job evaluation for implementation across Australia, and other businesses as appropriate. Our 2020 pay equity review will benefit through the use of the new pay framework to provide like-for-like comparison of jobs within the same pay grade and provide some lead indicators for our businesses to identify gaps in gender pay across levels in our Australian businesses.

4.2 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to gender equality indicator 3, please do so below:

Pay equity is a foundation that we know we have to get right, we are focussed on it, and where anomalies exist they will be addressed. There is a greater opportunity to close the gender pay gap and this will only be resolved through more balanced representation across our business. Our Board and senior leaders are aware of this, and we continue to raise awareness on this important topic.

Gender equality indicator 4: Flexible working and support for employees with family and caring responsibilities

This indicator will enable the collection and use of information from relevant employers about the availability and utility of employment terms, conditions and practices relating to flexible working arrangements for employees and to working arrangements supporting employees with family or caring responsibilities. One aim of this indicator is to improve the capacity of women and men to combine paid work and family or caring responsibilities through such arrangements. The achievement of this goal is fundamental to gender equality and to maximising Australia's skilled workforce.

During 2018 our Sydney head office transitioned to an activity based working environment, where employees have no fixed workstation. Employees are being actively encouraged to utilise flexible working conditions, including working from home and working from other locations. This is being facilitated through the use of upgraded technology, including new devices and improved collaboration tools such as Cisco Spark, enhancing our video and teleconference capability.

As part of Amatil's commitment to a flexible and family-friendly culture, which is fundamental to attracting, engaging and retaining a world-class workforce, our Alcohol and Coffee Business continued its Kids@Work program, encouraging employees in our Sydney head office to bring their children to work during designated school holiday weeks throughout the year. The program delivers practical support for team members with families, many of whom struggle to find childcare during the school holidays. In 2018 the program involved 52 children supporting 29 families and continues to be a popular and oversubscribed program.

We have also developed a parent portal for all employees which provides advice, guidance, and support on all stages of the parental journey including how to manage your own personal parental leave experience. We launched the portal on April 19 and will develop this further to include more support on other areas of carer responsibilities e.g. aging parents.

18. If your organisation has introduced any outstanding initiatives that have resulted in improved gender equality in your workplace, please tell us about them.

(As with all questions in this questionnaire, information you provide here will appear in your public report.)

Improving the depth and breadth of representation of women across all functions and Businesses, particularly in operational and sales roles, has been identified as an area for improvement. To support this we have taken a number of steps, including:

- Members of the National Association of Women in Operations in Australia, hosting events in various location
- Participating in the Women in Drinks mentoring program, an industry initiative focused on inspiring, supporting and educating the alcohol beverages industry to increase diversity and inclusion
- Becoming a foundation sponsor of Wayfinder, an industry-led program coordinated by Deakin University, which aims to improve the pipeline of female talent into the supply chain and logistics industry.
- Our Australia Logistics team launched 'Women in Warehousing' - a new program in partnership with Workskill Australia focusing on training women for the logistics workforce.

We continue to report regular metrics through a quarterly dashboard on a variety of diversity measures, introducing metrics around turnover by gender. This dashboard enables us to be more responsive to the business needs, as well as identify any trends impacting on the diversity of our workforce.

We also understand that we need to continue the focus on providing opportunity and development for women to enter leadership roles. Since the commencement of our Gonski Women in Leadership Program for mid to senior female leaders across the Group in 2016, the program continues to deliver positive outcomes for the participants and the organisation, with 26 per cent of the alumni having been promoted or given expanded responsibilities. Our graduate program is now gender balanced increasing from 42% to 50% female participation in 2019.
